Rev. John W. Wadman, superintendent of Methodist Episcopal Missions in Hawaii, made his annual report yesterday at the closing session of the conference. During the year there were 218 baptisms and 156 new members received into the church. The financial report showed that the members of the mission in this Territory had contributed $8 per capita to the support of the church. Bishop Bashford congratulated the Buffandeau, C. Montague Cooke, B. superintendent.

kept entirely out of the convention. With this in mind, we finally decided upon four names from about fifteen suggested.

There were about a dozen at last night's meeting, among whom were F. B. Steere, Guy Gere, A. Enos, E. von Damm, G. G. Guild, F. L. Waldron, A. D. Cooper, Eben Low and John Vivichaves.

It is rumored that some other meetings may be held between now and the general club meeting Friday night, and that some other "slates" may be framed up. So far as known there has not been any particular fault found concerning the names proposed, but the kick comes from the fact that a "select few" saw fit to talk the matter over instead of calling a general meeting.

KUHIO'S SPEECH

crats and the Home Rulers have come before you for certain measures and everything has been in your own hands to choose for yourselves. I have always appealed to you to never look to the party but to look for the man who does the most for you. Ever since I have been in politics when did you ever show your support of me except by ballot? And I am going to Washington to carry out the duties you placed upon me. With your support I have always won out. I am before you tonight to speak to you of some of the things relating to the fight between myself and Governor Frear. What has surprised me the most, however, is what I have seen, that in my contest many of the people have gone back on me. For what reasons, I don't know. If you believe thoroughly in our good and the good of the poor people then you must support me. You have heard in the past that it was the planters

HONOLULU FIFTY YEARS AGO
RECALLED BY PRESENT VISITOR

"Honolulu in 1862" is the title of a book which may be written in the near future by Silas Bowman of Merced City, California, who sails for the Coast tomorrow in the Wilhelmmina.

Mr. Bowman, who a seventy-seven years of age, made a thirteen-day stopover in Honolulu fifty years ago while he was on his way to California from Australia. His present stay here began last December, and since then the old gentleman has done little else except compare Modern Honolulu with the collection of unpaved streets and frame shacks that constituted the Honolulu of 1862.

"It is wonderful," he said, "the metamorphosis that this city has undergone in the last fifty years. The first time that I saw Honolulu was on March 19, 1862. There were seven of us on our way to California from Australia and the old tub in which we sailed—I think her name was Ironclad—had to put in here because our supply of water had run out.

"There was a hotel here called the National, but we used to sleep on board the old sailing vessel. Besides myself, there was an Italian opera company en route, and they played at the theater every night during our stay. There is one other man in the city here besides myself who remembers that opera company. He is Frank Cooke—at that time a boy of ten.

"I don't believe I ever had a better that paid me this and paid my expenses here and there, but I wish to tell you. What have you done for the benefit of the planters without looking out for your own benefit? The day has come when we one and all must study and look into the question of whether you should be all somebody in your own country. This is a time for you all to ponder over it. I am not going to direct you to do so, and so, but I want you to study out the reasons and the causes for the fight I am making against Frear. If you think the fight I am waging against Frear is for my own personal benefit then don't support me, but if you think I am fighting for you then it is your duty to support me. There are two main questions before us tonight, the fight between Frear and myself and my duty at Washington; these two questions. You have elected me to go to Washington and to watch and protect the rights of Hawaii, by the laws introduced by me or by other laws introduced in that Congress. On the other side, the question between Frear and myself is one of the main issues this day, and all I ask of you is that since you have elected me to go to Washington, do something for our good there that I am going back to Washington, and I ask of you while I am absent that you should look out for my interests and political future while I am absent. If I am not successful in Washington and if I am not successful here then I have made a failure. My absence on Maui or Washington is not going to make me victorious, but it is with your backing, and if you think I am doing what is right, then you should back me. If you think, however, that I am not doing what is right, then surely I cannot win out. Everyone has his own opinion, but a good many have advised me to stay here and continue this fight against Frear, but I can't see why I should remain if you people have so much confidence in me. If you people cannot support me in my absence I do not see how you can support me if I am going to be here. If you have faith in your own rights and your own good, then, wherever I am going, to Washington or to Maui, you surely will not depart from your duty of supporting me. This is not a small question; this is a great question. If I were to run tomorrow would you all vote for me; but the question is not a question of who is. The election is not individually, but through a convention. The question is not who is going to be a candidate for President, Taft or Roosevelt or La Follette, but the greatest thing is whether Taft will support me in my contention against Frear. I therefore inform you that I am returning to Washington to carry out the duties you imposed upon me, and all I ask of you in my absence is that you guard my rights and your rights. I believe I have said enough. I am not going to add words nor return bad for the bad that is being cast at me, but all I ask of you is, if you consider that justice is being done you, and I think it of some moment, then get in, each of you, and fight for a winning fight. The supporters of the Star and the Advertiser you should all resent. These newspapers are the ones who are abusing us and trying to kill us off. They have heaped abuse upon us and very likely tomorrow they will come out and say that I have raised the color line. But who time in my life than I did during the thirteen-day stay here in 1862. We spent most of our time swimming. In the morning we would take a fresh water swim in Nuuanu creek, and later in the day we would go into the sea.

"One time my partner and I walked up to the Pali, and when we finally got there my partner was so tired that he couldn't walk back, so I tried to carry him on my back. I couldn't do it, though, for he was heavier than I was, so when the stage came along I put him aboard and walked into town myself.

"It was a desolate looking town in those days; no street cars or paved streets, small buildings and nothing to eat in the restaurants except poi.

"It was a big surprise when I stepped off the boat last December and saw the place I had left fifty years before.

"It's like a different place, except that I have had the same old good time. I've been beating them all at chess and have met some nice people. I have been sort of wishing that the boat would go away and leave me tomorrow so that I could stay awhile longer. It took just a month to get to Pisco the last time; it will take about six days this trip. But you'll all see me here again next fall."

Mr. Bowman comes from California and consequently refuses to concede that Honolulu has anything on California when it comes to climate.

is to be prevented from raising the color line of this nature with all the abuses heaped upon us by these two papers? From now on I am with you to oppose any one proposed by those two papers, but I also ask of you that we join and fight any one proposed by those two newspapers as candidates in the future. If we are not going to combat any of the abuses heaped upon us we surely must be a mighty weak people. I now ask you, while I am returning to Washington on Wednesday, that if you have any objection to any of the leaders who are helping me out in this fight I ask that you eliminate all such personal feelings and make it one paramount issue—Kuhio. How can I pick out any one as leader? I must leave it all in the hands of you all, and I therefore ask that you support the two men I name, John C. Lane and Charles Achi. In time the question arises as to who ought to be the leader among the two. Eliminate that by thinking of Kuhio. I have also friends among the white people. I have Breckons; I have Shingle, and I have Jack Atkinson. They also supported me in this fight. They are not the only ones. There are others, too. We know that everybody doesn't support everything alike. Some don't believe in justice, but I believe that those I have with me, are for justice and equal rights. If you wish to support me, and think well of me, then I entreat you to support Charley Achi and John Lane in their efforts to help us. The question is not Charley Achi and John Lane, but the question is, "Shall we win out or lose?"

I believe I have said enough, and before we disband let me make one more appeal to you, as I have done in the past: Give me your support and we will win out. With these few words, I thank you all.

AN INTERESTING

There is to be seen at the education department a very interesting chart that has been compiled by S. T. Hoyt, who is a teacher at the Normal School. The chart follows the varying fortunes of the education department since the year 1900, and in the manner of a "fever chart," as used in a hospital, shows clearly how the money appropriation, the attendance and the cost of the department, respectively, rose or fell during the past eleven years.

The chart is wholly Hoyt's idea, and this morning Superintendent Pope and Inspector Gibson spent some time going over the sheet and pointing out the reasons for the sometimes sudden fluctuations of the lines that wend their way across the big cardboard affair.

Mr. Hoyt is considered to be a good all-round man, and he has evidently spent considerable time figuring out the records of the school system for the past ten years or more.

CANADIAN VISITOR EXTOLS
HAWAII ON EVE OF DEPARTURE

Mr. and Mrs. A. Allan and daughter, of Calgary, Canada, return to the mainland by the S. S. Wilhelmmina sailing tomorrow. Their stay in the islands has been much longer than at first intended. So delighted are they with Honolulu and the glorious climate here, that they leave with reluctance but hope to be able to return for another visit.

Mr. Allan speaks most enthusiastically of the wonderful climate, and declares that the Hawaiian Islands have two attractions which will bring thousands of visitors every year, the climate and the volcano.

"The delightful, soft breezes of the islands, whose people can enjoy the open air by night or day is a revelation to northern people; and makes real our boyhood dreams of enchanted islands, peopled with kind, hospitable people," said Mr. Allan to a Star man.

"The attractions here, for people seeking rest and outdoor life, are infinitely greater than Europe has to offer, and I am satisfied that as soon as the traveling public come to know of this delightful resort they will come in very increasing numbers.

"The Volcano of Kilauea is a dark letter to most people. Absolutely little is known of its sublime grandeur, but with a bit of advertising it could be made the most famous, as well as the most popular, individual attraction in the whole world. I am satisfied that the Hawaiian Islands will become the center of attraction in the whole of the Pacific Ocean.

The city of Honolulu, is improving rapidly, and with the lovely parks and big open spaces, stretching from Diamond Head to the enchanting grounds laid out by Mr. Damon, not to speak of a motor run round the island, the visitor is continually reminded of the open-hearted, far-seeing spirit of our citizens, and the glorious skies above enabling them to enjoy it all.

"The visitor rather smiles at the abundant duck ponds stretching themselves within the confines of the city but notes with approval these sweet-smelling, liquid sacrifices are already disappearing.

"The work before the Hawaii Promotion Committee as well as your city authorities, is tremendously important. The visitors will clamor for a clean, attractive place and every visitor that comes here, and goes home satisfied will be an immense factor in directing the stream of visitors to the Hawaiian Islands.

"We leave with great reluctance but console ourselves that the visit will not be our last."

Mr. Allan will be long remembered and assured of a cordial welcome on coming back, especially by all who heard his rattling Hawaiian promotion speech at the Hands Around banquet.

To whom it may concern. We will prepare (embalmed) bodies for shipment to any part of the United States and Maui, Hawaii and Kauai for less than one-half the price asked by any of the local undertakers.
